WHERE HAVE ALL THE CHILDREN GONE?

by

Dennis J. Wall

Despite telling a federal judge that children are not being separated from their parents, they are.

Beyond that, the federal government is now telling the same federal judge that the federal government cannot find many of the children. Many children separated from their parents by the federal government, in other words, simply cannot be found, says the federal government.

Where have all the children gone?

Check adoption agencies. Foster care programs. Anywhere where the children who were taken away might be sent away.

Once upon a time, it would have been unthinkable to think of federal agents taking children away from their parents. That was then, this is now. Now, it is very thinkable as it were that federal agencies might just be sending children away. So to say again, check the adoption agencies and the foster care programs and anywhere else that children are up for redistribution like lifeless manufactured products which is exactly how the current federal government treats them.
